DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 42-60, 76 and 77 in the reply filed on 07 December 2009 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the Office has not considered the relationship of the inventions of Groups I and II with respect to 37 CFR §1.475(b)(2) and MPEP §806.03. This is not found persuasive because since the claims fail to define a contribution over the prior art, they fail to constitute a special technical feature and hence, there is lack of unity between the claims of Group I and the claims of Group II.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Claims 61-75 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 07 December 2009.

Priority

3. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1791

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 42-60, 76 and 77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Monsheimer et al (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2004/0137228 A1).

Monsheimer et al (see the entire document, in particular, the abstract; paragraphs [0013] - [0019], [0026] - [0031], [0045], [0049] - [0051], [0054]; Table 1) teaches a process of making moldings by a layer-by-layer process including selectively melting regions of a respective pulverulent layer via unfocused introduction of electromagnetic energy, using a polymer powder, wherein the polymer powder is a thermoplastic random copolymer (e.g., copolyamide, copolyester). The recited ISO 1133 MFR value range is inherent in the process of Monsheimer et al principally because Monsheimer et al teaches the use of VESTAMELT® polymers, which are also described as being used by the instant specification in the instant process.

6. Claims 42-60, 76 and 77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Monsheimer et al (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2004/0137228 A1). Monsheimer et al (see the entire document, in particular, the abstract; paragraphs [0013] -

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 42-60, 76 and 77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Monsheimer et al (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2004/0137228 A1).

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR 1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c). This rejection might also be overcome by showing that the reference is disqualified under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) as prior art in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a). See MPEP § 706.02(1)(1) and § 706.02(1)(2). Monsheimer et al (see the entire document, in particular, the abstract; paragraphs [0013] - [0019], [0026] - [0031], [0045], [0049] - [0051], [0054]; Table 1) teaches a process of making moldings by a layer-by-layer process including selectively melting regions of a respective pulverulent layer via unfocused introduction of electromagnetic energy, using a polymer powder, wherein the polymer powder is a thermoplastic random copolymer (e.g., copolyamide, copolyester). The recited ISO 1133 MFR value range would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in the process of Monsheimer et al principally because Monsheimer et al teaches the use of VESTAMELT® polymers, which are also described as being used by the instant specification in the instant process.
